

To Whom It May Concern,

Is with great enthusiasm that I write this letter of recommendation for Ms. Nathalie Uwamaharo, who used to served as Teaching Assistant, first for the class CIS 151, Introduction to Programming, and then subsequently CIS 351, Data Structures and Algorithms, within Syracuse University. Nathalie is exceptionally devoted to her service for students in need and puts lots of enthusiasm into teaching.

She was very helpful throughout both courses in making the environment both positive and productive. Nathalie was very patient and made sure every student, whether they had experience or not, was taken through step by step to ensure understanding of course materials. Whether walking us through complex coding assignments, debugging code with us, or explaining theoretical concepts, she made even the most challenging topics approachable and clear.

What stood out the most above everything about Nathalie was her commitment to her students' success. She was ever ready to go an extra mile into office hours and outside office hours, should students need her. Her way of listening and being empathetic, with a tutoring style adjusted to my each particular need, made her indispensable throughout my academic path.

Nathalie built a strong foundation in programming, taking the difficult concepts such as loops, conditionals, and functions, and making them digestible, bite-sized pieces in CIS 151. In CIS 351, she continued helping me with the more challenging material of the class: optimizing algorithms and other complex data structures, such as trees and hash maps. She guided me and helped bring out the best from me in both classes.

Beyond that, Nathalie was an excellent TA because she is approachable and genuinely caring. She truly cares about her students, rejoices in their successes, and would encourage them to overcome challenges. She made the classroom environment supportive and stimulating, and I strongly believe she has made a difference in many students' lives, including mine.

I would like to wholeheartedly recommend Nathalie Uwamahoro for any position or opportunity whereby sharing her knowledge and uplifting would be seen as a welcome addition. Patience, dedication, and an extraordinary gift to teach and inspire certainly make her one rare educator. For further information and inquiries about my experience with Nathalie, kindly do not hesitate to get in touch at my email address or by calling my phone number.

Sincerely,
Bradley Duran
9293933974